Coleman Scout Hall Opened

Another fine achievement was completed by the active Coleman Lions Club on Monday evening, May 6th, when the Coleman Lions Club Scout hall was officially opened to the public.

Lions president, Graham Atkinson, was chairman of the affair and after welcoming the many visitors to the Scout hall, expressed his thanks to Lion Gordon Dunford who played an important part in the building of the Scout hall as well as putting in many hours of his own labor.

Mrs. Irene Ondrus, on behalf of the Brownies, Cubs and Scouts, expressed sincere thanks to the Lions for making possible such a fine hall for the young people's groups.

Tony Storcer, in charge of the Cub groups and Mrs. J. Colwell, in charge of the Brownies, both called on their troops to give a "yell" of appreciation and thanks to the Lions. The response shown by the young people was tremendous.

Del Hereford, speaking on behalf of the Scouts, also expressed thanks and made mention that when the Lions Club built the hall of concrete blocks and floors they had boys' activities in mind.

Tony Storcer, in charge of the Cub groups, echoed Mr. Hereford's words and added that the spacious club room would give the young people plenty of room to run around in, which was one thing young boys liked to do. He also pointed out that construction of the hall was ideally suited for boys' use.

Tourist Promotion Group Visits The Pass

The Turtle Mountain Hotel at Frank, and a number of members of the Blaimore Board of Trade and several persons from other Pass towns, were hosts to a delegation of visitors from the West Coast, who were promoting tourist travel on all of British Columbia's highways.

Spokesman for the delegation, who were only a portion of the Cavalcade that had travelled over the Rogers Pass and then came south through Alberta, was Ed

Norman of Vancouver.

Mr. Norman started off his remarks by pointing out that the purpose of this trip was not, as erroneously reported in The Lethbridge Herald, to promote the Rogers Pass route — but to promote more tourist travel in British Columbia through all of the roads into British Columbia.

He added that the Rogers Pass was a fixation in the minds of some people and he pointed out that if the Cavalcade were promoting the Rogers Pass the people included in the tour from the southeastern part of British Columbia on the number three highway through the Crows Nest Pass would certainly not be on the tour.

Mr. Norman gave an interesting talk on the value of the ever-increasing tourist business in Canada, stating that $100,000,000 had been spent in Alberta alone last year. He strongly stressed the great need of Canadians to get together and keep the tourist dollars in Canada. He said that many Americans come to Canada because Canada is a foreign country to which he added "let's keep Canada a foreign country and not make it an American State".

Mr. Norman then spoke on the values of promoting circle tours so that everyone could benefit by such a scheme and travelers and holidaymakers would in turn have a more enjoyable time.

Harry Harrison of Nelson, B.C., then showed a good number of color slides of many scenic spots in southern B. C., and central B. C., and while showing the slides gave an interesting commentary. While speaking on tourism, Mr. Harrison stated that the British Columbia government was putting up dollar for dollar to match what other groups were spending to advertise and promote British Columbia.

He stated that with the support being given by the people in south-eastern British Columbia to the tourist promotion program that people here will see and get a vast flow of tourist traffic through this area and in turn he suggested this area also consider such a promotional scheme.

Mr. Norman again addressed the gathering, pointing out that there were eight sets of tourist promotion groups now travelling Canada as far east as Winnipeg, Man., and next year he expected the groups to travel as far as the Toronto and Montreal areas.

Mr. Harrison then called on Kay Kerr of the Turtle Mountain Hotel and on behalf of the tour presented her with a black walnut and copper candle stick made at the Kootenay School of Art. Mr. Norman also presented Mrs. Kerr with a lighter shaped like a ship. In making the presentations both men commended Mrs. Kerr for the advance work she had done in getting the members to visit the Crows Nest Pass.

Would you rather have your electric utilities collect

TAXES

... or pay them?

Last year Alberta's free enterprise electric utilities paid over six million dollars in federal taxes. Almost 50% of this came back to Alberta for roads, schools, hospitals and other services.

It is important to remember that although government-owned utilities do not pay federal taxes, someone has to pay them.

Wouldn't you rather have your electric utilities pay taxes? — while serving you at rates carefully controlled by the provincial government.
